

THE "LION" AND THE "LAMB." The Kansas City Enterprise, published in Missouri, says, "Governor" Charles Robinson and General Samuel C. Pomeroy, the free State leaders, and Col. H. T. Titus and Maj. Jeff. Buford, of the "bloody ruffins," sat down at the American Hotel in that city, kept by a border ruffian, ate together in peace, and pledged each other's health in the choicest Heidsieck.
