Gen. Walker Surrenders Himself to Marshat Rynders—The Parole Renewed.

U. S. MARSHAL'S OFFICE, Monday, Dec. 23. This morning, at 11 o'clock, General WILLIAM This morning, at 11 o'clock, General William Walker surrendered himself, in compliance with the terms of his parole, to Marshal Rynders, at the office in College-place. Messys: T. F. Meagher and Malcolm Campbell appeared as Walker's legal advisers. The General, accompanied by his friend, General Willar, drove down to the Marshal's office in a carriage. Marshal Rynders, as soon as he observed his visitor, rushed at him in a most friendly way, grasped him by the hand, and exclaimed, "As Captain Rynders, General Walker, I am most delighted to see you, but as Marshal, (and here the Captain gave one of his significant winks,) you know, General, it is a difhis significant winks,) you know, General, it is a different thing altogether." General WALKER returned the Marshal's compliments, with his customary sang froid, and handed him a letter, of which the following froid, and handed him a letter, of which the tollowing is a copy:

UNITED STATES FLAG-SHIP WABASH,
Off San Juan del Norte, Dec. 11, 1857. }

SIR: This will be handed to you by Gen. WILLIAM WALKER, who has given me his parole of honor that he will present it to you in person.

With the naval force of this squadron I arrested Gen. Walker on "Punta Arenas," on the 8th inst., for a violation of the Neutrality laws of the United States, he having set on foot in the United States an unlawful military organization, to make war on a people with whom we are at peace, and was at the time of his arrest at the head of said organization, in the act of making war as above stated.

As Marshal of the Southern District of New-York, I consign him to your custody.
I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

W. PAULDING,
Flag-officer, Command'g U. S. Home Squadron,
To Isalah Ryndras, Esq., United States Marshal of the Southern District of New-York.

After reading this epistle the Marshal invited

After reading this opistle the Marshal invited Walker and his counsel to an inner apartment, where it is to be presumed the matter was fully discussed. The Captain, having no official intimation as to the course he should pursue, renewed the parole leave, and informed the General that he supposed the best thing for him to do under the circumstances was to proceed at once to Washington and present himself to the Secretary of State. This, it was understood, met the concurrence of the General, and the probabilities are that, accompanied by the Marshal and Mr. Measure, he will leave this evening for Washington.

Commodore Paulding's Letter to Walker.

URITED STATES FLAG-SHIP WABASH, /
Off SAN JUAN DEL NORTE, Dec. 7, 1857. \
SIR: Your letter of Nov. 30 was received at Aspinwall, and sent with my dispatches to the Government. That of December 2 came to hand yesterday.
These letters surprised me with their tone of audicity and falsification of facts.
Your rude discourtesy in speaking of Captain Chatard, of the Saratoga, I pass without comment. The mistake he made was in not driving you from Punta Arenus when you landed there in defiance of his guns.

guns.

In occupying the Point Arenas, and assuming it to be the head-quarters of the Army of Nicaragua, and you its Commander-in-Chief, you and your associates, being lawless adventurers, deceive no one by their absurdity.

being inwises adventurors, deceive no one by their absurdity.

Lieutenant Cilly, of the Saratoga, informs me that he was in uniform, and you say he was in plain clothes when you threatened to shoot him. While you use such threats, it may be of some importance for you to know that if any person belonging to my command shall receive injury from your lawless violence, the penalty to you shall be a tribute to humanity.

Now, Sir. you and your fellows are here in violation of the laws of the United States, and greatly to its dishonor, making war upon a people with whom we are at peace; and, for the sake of humanity, public and private justice, as well as what is due to the honor and integrity of the Government of the United States, I command you and the people associated here with you, to surrender your arms without delay, and embark in such vessels as I may provide for that purpose. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

H. PAULDING, Flag-Officer, Commanding United States Home Squadron.

To General William Walker, Punta Arenas.
