

Hail of Hymen.

“The altar we with rapture greet,
“The chain is light, the bondage sweet.”

MARRIED.

On Thursday the 15th inst. in Petersburg, Mr. JOHN DIXON, Editor of the Intelligencer, to Miss. ANN ROSE, both of that town.

At Coventry, (Connecticut) by John Spier, Esq. the 17th ult. Mr. Asa Harris of Otsego, to Mrs. Alice Dowe, of the former place. Mr. Harris has within the space of three years three months and seventeen days, been the husband of three different wives---his present one is his fourth; he is seventy years of age, and his present wife fifty. He had never seen her, until the middle of the last month. He left home on the 4th, and in seventeen days returned with his bride, distance about 200 miles.

In Paris, the famous ARTHUR O'CONNOR, of Ireland, to Mademoiselle CONDORCET, daughter of the no less famous Marquis Condorcet, of revolutionary memory. Mr. O'Connor, the papers assert, first aspired to an union with a distant relation of the Emperor Napoleon, an innkeeper's daughter in Ajaccio, Corsica, but she refused to receive his addresses.
