

STREET FIGHT:

A Riotous Mob Attacks a Jail.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 2.—On Friday night about dusk a riot of colored people occurred at Darien, in which the sheriff, two whites and a colored man were slightly wounded. It was caused by the arrest of Tunis G. Campbell, colored magistrate, on a bench warrant of Judge Tompkins. He failing to give bond was ordered to be kept in confinement at the court house until he could be removed to a place of safety.

The colored men, armed with guns and sticks, gathered at the court house, threatening to rescue him. The marshal of Darien attempted to disperse the crowd, and was knocked down and badly bruised. The sheriff, with Judge Tompkins went to the steps of the building, when firing commenced. Fifteen or twenty shots were fired, with the above result, the judge narrowly escaping. A posse was organized and guarded the court house the remainder of the night, but there was no further trouble. Campbell was brought to this city by a steamer and is now in jail.
