

The Petition in Pennsylvania to Exclude Negro Immigration into that State.

"The petitioners who sought to place on it the atrocious black laws of Indiana and Illinois, accomplish no better result than to unmask their inhumanity to the negro and their disloyalty to the Government."—N. Y. Tribune.

This paper is fertile in its discovery of new features of disloyalty. It seems now that it is eminently traitorous to prevent negroes from coming into the Free States in swarms to enter into competition with white labor. Why, how many windings are these Abolition Jacobins capable of? Heretofore they have laughed at the idea of negroes coming from the South into the North. This visionary creature, GREELEY, and the jackall crew who have done his bidding, have been loud in telling us that the negro couldn't be forced North; he would stay at his home and work for wages. Now, it is an evidence of disloyalty to take any measures to assist the negroes in staying at the South. It is disloyal to oppose emancipation. It is disloyal to oppose negroes coming into the Free States. It is, in short, disloyal to be, do or say anything which these human buzzards don't approve.
