

Rev. P. B. Randolph of Louisiana writes to the New York Tribune as to affairs in that State : "I tell you that Louisiana, from the Balize to Texas, is simply fiendish since her fortunes have fallen into the hands of the men who now hold nearly all her offices, and in my opinion nothing but the grace of God, backed by Grant's bayonets, will ever bring them to their senses. My life has been threatened, while teacher and school-agent, scores of times, and I was saved only because my work was not yet done. Thuggism reigns supreme all over that State, and if hell is any worse than New Orleans, I pity the damned. Hundreds of our schools are broken up and the rebellion is at high tide all over the State."
