

Lynched.—On the 24th ult. a well-dressed fellow, with whiskers and moustache, was caught in the act of robbing a trunk on board the steamboat Win. Noble, lying in the canal, near Louisville. The captain handed him over to the tender mercies of the passengers, who took him on shore and gave him something less than two hundred lashes, well laid on.